

Balance, Diversity and Equity

What's worth more, pelican or tree?
Who is better – you or me?
Who's more important – doctor or lawyer?
Where do I fall in the pecking order?

What is better – bear or flower?
Do you or I have more power?
Am I wrong to be swift and fast?
Am I a failure if I come in last?

You have to pick – is it otter or snake?
How much money do you make?
What is a winner and what is a loser?
Better a pacifist or a bruiser?

Do you prefer the rabbit or the perch?
Do you know or do you search?
Are you vegan or prefer meat?
Are you the same to all you greet?

Humans seem obsessed with the other guy,
Who they are – what they can buy,
We never ever seem to have enough,
Particularly if you have more stuff.

Humans seems to need to be superior,
Which can only occur if someone's inferior,
Why can't we simply take care of ourselves?
And leave it to others to be themselves.?

At Earth Church we have room for all,

No critter left behind, out in the hall,
We value diversity, we like our differences,
We believe in equity, making no inferences.

The Earth Church model comes from nature,
Where there's no such thing as a racial hater,
Earth beings and habitats striving for balance,
If only all humans were just as valiant.

So welcome to Earth Church,
Pull yourself up a pew,
Here balance and equity
Become natural to you.
